

Ghada Chbeir (vocal)

Born in Lebanon. After graduation from high school, moved to the USEK (Universite St. Esprit - Kaslik - Lebanon) to pursue a music career. She specializes in ethnomusicology. Due to her unique style in performing, she became a professor of traditional Arabic singing techniques at the USEK and sacred Syriac chants at the National Conservatory of Lebanon. The leader and director of the Arab Choir and ensemble at the USEK. In 2007 was honored the 'BBC Middle East and Northern Africa Division's World Music Award for her "Mouachahat" compact disk. Moreover, she's been awarded I Place at the international contest for her interpretation of the religious dances of Andalusia. She is the author of two books: "Muvashah after the Cairo Caucus of 1932" and "Sayyed Darwish, mouwashah et Dawr." Ghada Chbeir has performed in many concerts in Europe.